Annex A

Note: To Administrative Officers.

The purpose of the questions listed below is to sesist the Hanagement Staff in determining for the DD/5 what stops meed to be taken in the final deprocessing of separating employees to insure that their business with, or obligations to, the igency, financial or otherwise, is terminated simultaneously with their supleyment.

These obligations meed not be of a purely mometary nature; they apply also to non-expendable property, classified documents, books and similar items which are intended for Agency retention.

A representative of the Hanagement Staff will contact you individually to discuss these questions with you.

- 1. Who in your division or staff is responsible for erranging the final olearance and deprocessing of staff employees, military personnel, agents and other types at headquarters? Who has this responsibility at your field stations?
- 2. What are your procedures for clearance and deprocessing of such personnel when separating at headquarters? What are the procedures when such personnel separate in the field? Please indicate contacts made, either within your division or staff or elsewhere, and the step-by-step process followed by the separating employee or agent.
- 3. Do your elegrance and deprocessing procedures apply also to employees going oversess? To employees going on DAOF? To employees converting from V to UV funds? To employees converting from staff employee to staff agent status, or vice versa? Transfers between Offices?
- i. Is one individual in your division or staff responsible for all property issued to the component?
- 5. What records do you maintain of money, property, classified documents and other items which you issue to staff employees, military personnel, agents and other types?
- 6. How far in advance of the actual date of separation of an employee do you normally receive notice of the separation? How soon do you notify the central administrative Offices?

- 1. Paragraphs 74(1) and 7e and Form No. 21 reflect the Office of Logistics as the only clearance point regarding Government property that may be charged to the employee.
- 2. You are advised that the only record maintained in the Office of Logistics of property issued to specific employees is for that property released on memorandum receipt or hand receipt directly to the employee concerned by an Office of Logieties ecomponent. Accordingly, the Office of Logistics' certifiention (or clearance) contained on Form No. 21 indicates only that the records maintained in the Office of Logisties reflect the sutstanding property obligation on the part of the employee for when such certification is furnished.
 - 3. Other appropriate sources of nonempendable property available to Agency employees are:
 - a de accompanio attic nemaible efficer at . Cield station to shich the sampleree has be
 - b. Responsible officers in the Boolguarters organizational element to which employee is assigned.

 - d. Loan from other Coverment employees to when nonersentable property has been issued.
- 4. Then an employee obtains nonempendable Government property from another employee (whether or not the employee releasing the property is the responsible officer of record), it is expected that the employee releasing the property will protect his responsibility therefor by means of a hard receipt ow continuous knowledge of the location and use of the property. Insofar as the property records of the Agency are editorised, some and individual is charged with the accountability and responsibility for all Agency menempendable property.
